STANFORD, KY., FRIDAY, APRIL 20, 1888.

NO. 20

The Business Manager on His Travels.

First a ten-mile drive, second a 40-mile train ride, then a mile and a half bus ride and I am at Somerset. Such was my last Sabbath day's journey, which took up a large portion of the day. Although in a direct line Stanford and this place are only 30 miles apart, yet through the unadulterated meanness of the railroads a Stanford passenger Somerset bound has to try every means of travel, as well as exhaust himself of both time and money. It is true that the trains on the C. & S. road go like a "cannon ball," as the through trains are called, but that is little or no satisfaction when you have waited hours for connection. And too a fellow just a bit worldly in his ways, feels uneasy to a slight extent. I have been told, while it goes thundering along paying not the least attention to Danville or Waynesburg or any other such stations, it flies thro' Kings Mountain tunnel before a person can lay hand on his pocket-book to make it safe.

Circuit and county courts brought the yeomanry to town Monday, but save conversations among themselves about planting corn and such, very little was done. Just at this turnip-salad time of year they do very little trading and the merchants reported business little dull. The republican convention was some attraction too and was attended by as many as could gain entrance to the courthouse. This convention, I am told, was not as harmonious as it should have been. Indeed it is very evident that there are factions in that party everywhere and especially in Pulaski. A hand-to-hand fight would have been engaged in by two prominent reps, had it not been for the presence of numerous peacekeepers in that able body. After a lengthy meeting and great deal of kicking and quarreling, however, they finally declared for Sherman & Bradley. The trouble rose over a question of naming Mr. Lewis, of the Republican, who is opposed to Bradley, for district delegate, but he finally got there.

The small-pox scare has not yet abated. The patient who was sent out from town several weeks ago to suffer it out, is still in a critical condition and I have it from good authority that a person who visited him and who lives at Science Hill, caught the dreadful disease and he, as well as his wife, is down with it. The neighbors of this afflicted family are quarantined and every precaution is being used to prevent its spread.

In justice to C. A. Brown & Co., livery men, who had the misfortune to lose their omnibus by fire, caused by its turning over while loaded with members of the K. of P. order from Danville, I wish to state that the report that the driver was drunk and caused the upset, as published in the Danville Tribune, is untrue. Proof shows that he was entirely sober and that had it not been for a drunken negro sitting by him, and who, by the way, was with the Danville gentlemen, pulling the reins from the driver's hands no accident would have occurred, as the horses were in the middle of the road till this was done.

It will no doubt surprise Lincoln county people, who believe that Wallace Carpenter murdered his father and who think that his neck should pay the penalty for the horrible deed, to know that he is allowed by the jailer of Pulaski to take what liberty he wishes. I am told that he is in jail not more than half of his time, the other portion spent on the streets, calling on young ladies or whatever he wishes to do. I am loath to believe that Jailer Sheppard does this to give the criminal a chance to escape, but that he does it through sympathy for the boy, in whom, I fear, time will tell that he has reposed too much confidence in. Looking at it in this light, it seems not so serious as it really is, but in the true light it is an exceedingly severe case of doing just the opposite of what the law directs that he should do.

Dr. Frank Y. Herbert, of the dental firm of Penny & Herbert, Stanford, is here practicing his profession, with office at the Brinkley Hotel. The doctor understands his business and Pulaski people cannot do better than give him a share of their work at least. E. C. W.

A modern Lord Chesterfield in Philadelphia was lately giving his son some advice about getting on in society. In answer to the question, "What is the best subject to talk to a lady about at a ball?" he replied: "Talk to her about her beauty." "But," said he, "suppose she has no beauty?" "Ah, then," replied the experienced paterfamilias, "talk to her about the ugliness of the other women present if you want to get on."

Burdette says the only way to keep a boy on the farm is to drive a long spike through his abdomen and through a live oak tree and bolt on the other side, then saw the boy's legs off and break his back and he will stay on the farm.

A little red-headed girl in New York has succeeded in getting a "sassy" youngster, the son of a near neighbor, in jail because he was always bawling, "Where is the white horse?"

MT. VERNON, ROCKCASTLE COUNTY.

—Tan bark peeling is in full blast.

—One of the inmates of the poor-house died last Saturday.

—The little village of Wildie, this county, has three doctors.

—Harvey Pitman and Miss Usla Sower were married Monday.

—A number of fishing parties, loaded down with "bait," can be seen passing daily to the river.

—A Maltese cat at this place can and does stand flat-footed and jump into a window six feet from the ground.

—Mat Magee, deputy collector, was here Tuesday. Says he destroyed one moonshine juicery in Laurel last week.

—Livingston for six or eight months has been without a saloon. One will shortly be opened there but the people say they won't have it.

—Our representative, the Hon. Saml. Ward, was here Monday and Tuesday. Mrs. J. R. Cass and Miss Mollie Talbott, of Brodhead, were in town Wednesday. L. B. Dean, of Vandalia, Ills., is here looking after his lands.

—Two men representing themselves to be advance agents for Wallace's circus, were here Wednesday. They arranged for grounds, advertising, etc., but from their peculiar actions it is believed that they are "advance bums."

—H. C. Gentry went to Williamsburg as a delegate from this county to attend a meeting looking to the building of a Baptist College at that place. It is understood that arrangements were made for the building to be commenced in a short time.

—J. F. McQuery, formerly a citizen of Pulaski, but for the last 13 years has resided in Iowa, returned with his family to his native soil Tuesday. One by one they are convinced. William Moore, formerly a citizen of this county, died at Pittsburgh Monday. John R. Durham, Brodhead, has been granted a pension. F. L. Goosse is the latest messenger on this line.

To the Democracy of Laurel County.

A mass meeting of the democrats of Laurel county, to be held at the courthouse in London, at 1:30 p. m., on Saturday, May 5, 1888, is hereby respectfully called. The object of the meeting is to select delegates to the State convention to be held in Lexington on the 16th of May, 1888, for the purpose of naming delegates to the national convention to assemble at St. Louis June 5, 1888. The county committee will be glad to have a full attendance at this meeting.

J. L. YADON, Ch'm.

J. C. McKee, Sec'y.

At the big rabbit drive nine miles from Fresno, Cal., the other day, 2,000 persons were present. Five hundred men and boys formed the line of the drive, and starting four miles from the corral, slowly swept down to it. The wings were half a mile in length, and the corral proper was 75 feet in diameter and inclosed with a wire screen. Into this inclosure were driven and killed 2,000 jack rabbits and 1,000 others were killed in the drive and outside. [New York Sun.]

An editor works 350 days per year to get out 104 issues of a paper; that's labor. Once in a while somebody pays him for a year's subscription; that's capital; and once in a while some son-of-a-gun of a dead-beat takes the paper for a year or two and vanishes without paying for it; that's anarchy; but later on justice will overtake the last named creature for there is a place where he will get his deserts; that's hell.—Ex.

A syndicate of Georgia capitalists has been formed for the purpose of manufacturing paper from cotton stalks and bolls, which are now practically useless to planters. Those interested claim that they can make good news paper at two cents per pound, and that the establishment of this industry will be as great an event in the economical history of the South as the establishing of cotton seed oil mills.

A burglar broke into a residence in Tuscola, the other night, and carried off a fruit cake. As a man was found dead the next morning a few miles from that town it is believed that the burglar ate the cake. [Arcola Record.]

The darkest hour in the history of any young man is when he sits down to study how to make money without honestly working for it.—[Horace Greeley.]

The population of the five largest cities of the world is: London 3,832,441; Paris 2,269,023; Canton, China 1,500,000; Berlin 1,315,297; New York 1,206,557.

Meeting of Kentucky Press Association.

After hearing from a great many Kentucky editors in all parts of the State in regard to changing the time of holding the annual meeting of the Kentucky Press Association a meeting of the executive committee has been held to settle the matter. From the newspaper comments it was evident that a change from the time fixed by the constitution (the first Thursday of June) was desired, and a majority of them voting in favor of Wednesday, July 4, the Executive Committee decided in favor of that date. To have fixed the time of meeting earlier than the 7th of June would have conflicted either with the Republican State Convention, May 2, or the Democratic State Convention, May 16, or too near these dates to secure a large attendance. To have fixed the date in June later than the 7th would conflict with the National Republican Convention, June 19, and the school commencements at Danville, held June 7 (the constitutional time) or a week earlier or later would have secured a slim attendance on account of the National Convention in St. Louis June 5. The committee deems it necessary to make this explanation so that the members of the association will understand the necessity of changing the time of meeting to July.

The following is

A woman weighing something like 200 pounds came into the Grand Central station the other day clinging to the bony arm of a little man who probably tipped the beam at 90 in his winter clothing.

He led the way to the ladies' waiting room, deposited the lady in two chairs and started out.

"You won't be gone long, will you dearie?" she gasped out. "I feel so timid."

"No, darling; I'll be right back. Don't worry about me."

"Oh, I shall, dearie. I can't help it and I dread being left alone."

"Well, I'll be back in 10 minutes."

"Oh, do; I feel so nervous."

He was gone 15 minutes and when he reached her side again she tried to tumble into his arms and said sweetly and childishly:

"Oh, Harry! You were gone an age. I was frightened! Ah, Harry, I fear that you will find that you have married a very, very silly little girl!"—[Tid-Bits.]

Evarts is the oldest of the republican presidential candidates. He was 70 on the 6th of February. Sherman is 65, Allison is 59, Hawley is 62, Edmunds is 60, and Cullum is 59, though his hair is still black. Frank Hiseock is the youngest presidential candidate of the Senate. He was 54 last September. Ingalls comes next to him at 55, and the youngest republican spoken of for the presidency is not in the Senate, but is acting as an insurance lawyer at Chicago. His name is Robert T. Lincoln, and his age is about 44. Gresham and Harrison are each about the same age as Ingalls, and President Cleveland himself is 51.

—Charles Gallagher, Esq., went to Cincinnati this week to buy more goods for W. O. Sweeney.

—Uncle Stephen Marrs and daughter, Miss Nellie, are off to Nicholasville on a visit to relatives.

—Gov. McCreary got there again with his bill for the "Conference of the Nations." When our Congressman gets left you may be sure the other fellows are in a bad fix. The eighth district may well be proud of her Congressman.

—W. H. Kinnaird and Geo. Denny, Sr., went to Laurel county this week. Tom Wherritt and Mr. Buchanan went to Barboursville Wednesday to fish. They expected to be joined at Stanford by Mr. Sid Myers. The friends of "Smalley" here hope Uncle Sid will not use him for bait while on the trip.

—Gen. Landram and Samuel Engleman went to the country yesterday. It is thought they went fishing. Col. D. R. Collier left yesterday for a business trip to the South. Albert Schilling, wife and baby are visiting relatives at Richmond. Don Santiago De Gibbonoise was in Lancaster yesterday.

Sour Grapes.

[To the Editor of the Interior Journal.]

Some modern pseudo sourgrape. Esop has racked his infinitesimal brain to find ways and means to cast his petty spleen upon a family from whom he has never received anything but courtesy. As the result of his mighty travail a fable appears in your paper of the 13th inst., in which the State and national government are brought into play merely that a silly and far-fetched slur may be cast upon the Reppert family. The Reppert family, much less Proctor Knott or Milton J. Durham, ask the author no odds.

The Reppert boys secured their positions through no favoritism of Mr. Durham, or any one else. They hold their places not because they have been political bums, distributing money and whisky at elections, or fawned and truckled to politicians, money bags or royal Kentucky blood.

They hold office because after the most trying and searching examination they were found to possess brains and education sufficient to demand it as a right, which is not likely to be done soon by Pseudo Esop.

I justice to Mr. Durham I should state that my father never was a supporter of him in the primary, and that my brothers in their last promotions entered the pension department under Gen. Black. To the average Kentucky politician civil service is a frightful nightmare. Cleveland says they do not understand it. No, they don't. And it will possibly take 40 generations of the future to make them understand that brains and education should take precedence over bummerism, money bags and blood royal.

AFTER more than a month's illness from disease contracted during exposure to the unprecedented blizzard in New York last month, Senator Roscoe Conkling passed from the sphere of action in which for years he was a most prominent figure, at about 2 o'clock Wednesday morning. For many days his sufferings were intense, but the end came painlessly during sleep. Senator Conkling was in his 59th year and was a remarkably well preserved man of fine physique and wonderful vitality. Of a very imperious and lordly nature he did not attract friends to him as Blaine, but won his way to public favor by the force of his personality and his shining ability. His first public service was as Mayor of Utica, to which he was elected two terms. In 1858 he was chosen to represent his district in Congress and for four terms was similarly honored. But before taking his seat the last term he was elected to the United States Senate and served a part of three terms, resigning in 1881 because of a disagreement with Garfield. The first step to the open war between him and the president was the latter's appointment of Blaine to be Secretary of State. Conkling and Blaine had quarreled while they were Congressmen and the latter had applied to him the name of "Turkey Cock" which he never forgave. The final feather that broke the camel's back, however, was the appointment by Garfield of Judge Robertson, an avowed enemy of Conkling, to be Collector of New York. The Senator endeavored to prevent his confirmation, but failing resigned and went back to his State for vindication, which he failed to receive and Warner Miller, a veritable pigmy, was elected in his stead. Since then he has kept out of politics and has devoted himself to the profession of law, in which it is said he was making $150,000 a year. That he was an honest man there has never been a question and for that and other reasons he will be conspicuous in the history of an era of corruption among the leading men of his party. The Senator was as warm in his likes as his dislikes and his fealty to Grant was as strong as his enmity to Blaine was bitter. His effort to procure a third term for the old soldier will be remembered to his discredit as an attempt to break the unwritten law which says that the president shall not serve more than two terms. His speech nominating him at the Chicago convention was a very eloquent effort and the little verse with which he began it has been printed millions of times. It runs:

When asked what State he hailed from,
My sole reply shall be,
He comes from Appomattox
And its famous apple tree.

THE Anderson county democrats, in convention assembled, passed highly eulogistic resolutions on the course of Gov. Buckner, and the following which is pretty rough on the $5-a-day solons: That we denounce defaulting in every sense, and especially that of ex-Treasurer Tate, but admire the manner in which Tate manages a job of that character and disposes of the money, as compared with the manner in which the Kentucky Legislature makes way with the funds of the State.

The democracy of Barren after endorsing the administrations of Cleveland and Gov. Buckner and denouncing the Blair bill, instructed for Editor James M. Richardson, of the Times, for delegate to the St. Louis convention from the 11th district. Old Barren is almost as solidly democratic as Sweet Owen and the way she did things Monday proves that she is still joined to her idols. The selection of Mr. Richardson is a capital one and his friends hope that the other counties will endorse the action.

The tariff reduction bill is before Congress and the country is being deluged with oratory. Mr. Mills led off in a comprehensive argument for the bill and was followed by Judge Kelly, who spoke in the interest of the money devils. The Record will furnish much campaign thunder for smaller orators during the next month. Nearly every member is down for a speech pro or con on the bill.

MURPHY got every member of the Louisville Base Ball Club to sign the temperance pledge and that evening they lost a game to the Buffalos 5 to 6. They shut off too suddenly, perhaps, and got their nervous systems disarranged. If they stick to their pledges though, the "prohibitionists" will bet two to one that they come out with the pennant at the close of the season.

BILLY O'BRADELY is in Frankfort. Look out for some deep, dark, devilish scheme to be sprung in a few days. Billy lies awake at nights working his massive brain in the attempt to make capital for himself first and all the time, and party next.

It is safe to say that if Blaine sheds any tears over the demise of Senator Conkling they will be of the crocodile variety.

THE executive committee of the K. P. A. has put the editor of this paper on the programme for a speech on "How to Run a Country Newspaper" as will be seen in another column. We suppose it was because we have been able to keep our nose above water for 13 years in the business, but we know monstrous little about it. A much longer and better production could be made on what we don't know in the premises.

THE House adopted the Senate's amendment increasing the appropriation from $20,000 to $75,000 and Gov. McCrea's bill providing for a Conference of the Nations of North, South and Central America, is now the law. It is one of the most important enactments of the session and is another feather in our Model Congressman's cap.

THE Georgia republicans sent a solid Sherman delegation to Chicago, but said not a word of about our short-legged friend of Garrard. This is too bad. However, Pulaski county has instructed for him.

LEGISLATIVE DOINGS.

—The governor's veto of the bill increasing jailers' fees was handsomely sustained.

—The House passed a bill reducing taxation from 47½ to 40 cents by a vote of 54 to 8.

—Both Houses have passed the bill to submit the question of prohibition to the voters of Garrard county.

—The Senate with a great show of indignation has adopted a resolution to investigate the L. & N. railroad lobby.

—Wife beaters will not suffer the lash yet awhile. The Senate 10 to 14 refused to concur in the House bill providing for such punishment.

WOMEN OF OSKALOOSA.

THEY RUN THE TOWN, AND NO MISTAKE ABOUT IT.

Portraits and Sketches of the Mayor and City Council of a Lively Little City in Kansas—They all Wear Dresses and Have Plenty of Nerve.

OSKALOOSA, Kan., is redeemed from misrule. Oskaloosa is not only redeemed but has made a point for history.

First of all towns or cities she has elected a complete ticket of mayors and councilwomen.

Thirty years ago Jefferson county, of which Oskaloosa is the county seat, was the scene of border warfare. No more desperate scenes were ever witnessed there during the contest which decided the question whether Kansas should be slave or free territory. That contest was waged between extreme factions. It was the abolitionists who won.

Border war was followed by civil war, and when the smoke of civil war cleared away the spectre of slavery had vanished.

But the yeast cake of the new dispensation was left in Kansas. Its people had brought from New England that spirit of dissatisfaction with present ills—a yearning for change which hovered over the Mayflower on her voyage to the colony of Massachusetts. That spirit has been with the people of Kansas ever since, and during the interval which has elapsed since they secured free territory they have waged perpetual warfare for no run and woman's rights.

What is to be the eventual outcome of the woman movement in Kansas no man knows, though doubtless there are many women who think they know. But one thing is certain, Oskaloosa will for the next term be governed by women. The men who had long held the offices were content to walk in the mud, for they were transients; the women naturally objected, for they were sturdy. The men didn't care if the streets were dark, for they were not afraid; the women preferred the light, for they didn't trust the men. The women had long trusted to man's unperformed promises—not the promises whose breach brings so many suits in the courts, but promises to mend the sidewalks and light the streets—and had been disappointed. The women grumbled, but refrained from action.

It happened that certain men of eminent respectability, not relishing the neglect of the incumbents of the mayoralty and council, decided to put into the field an improvement ticket, composed of women, with one exception—the police judge. The ticket was sprung on the morning before the election. The people laughed, and the incumbents felt nervous, but everybody entitled to vote went to the polls, and when the election was over the improvement ticket was elected in toto, as follows:

MAYOR.
Mrs. M. D. Lowman.
CITY COUNCIL.
Mrs. H. P. Morse,
Mrs. Emma Hamilton,
Mrs. Carrie Johnson,
Mrs. S. E. Balsey,
Mrs. Mittie Golden.
POLICE JUDGE.
W. A. Hamilton.

Then was there great rejoicing in Oskaloosa. The candidates-elect at once found themselves raised from the plain position of wives of citizens of a small country town to be the center of attraction. They were at once tutored for their pictures, they were presented with a list of questions as long as the moral law, they were interviewed relentlessly. Here are some of the questions asked them:

1. Are you a Prohibitionist?
2. Do you favor woman's suffrage?
3. To what party do you belong?
4. Whom do you favor for president?
They are all Prohibitionists. They are not definite as to the woman suffrage question, and they vary in general politics though the majority are democrats.

Mrs. Mary D. Lowman, the mayor-elect, is 49 years old. She is a native of Pennsylvania, a Presbyterian and a Republican. She has lived in Oskaloosa eighteen years, a part of which time she taught school. She has for some years been deputy register of deeds. She has a son 22 years old and a daughter 18.

Mrs. S. E. Balsey was born thirty-six years ago, and consequently has not got past middle life. She came from Ohio. In politics she is a Democrat. In religion, a Methodist.

MRS. BALSEY. MRS. HAMILTON.
MRS. MORSE. MRS. JOHNSON.

Mrs. Emma Hamilton is a Hoosier, having been born in Indiana thirty-nine years ago. She was educated at Oxford, O., and studied music in Friendship, N. Y. She has been a resident of Oskaloosa fifteen years. She is a Republican—Methodist.

Mrs. H. P. Morse is 45 years old, and a native of Merrie England. She is described as fair and fat, and very fond of her pets, a canary and a mocking bird. She is a Democrat and a member of the Methodist church.

Mrs. Carrie Johnson was born in the town in whose councils she will sit. She is but 23 years old, and from her youth and consequent tendency to gaiety will doubtless vote for all the holidays. She is described as a blonde. She is a Democratic Episcopalian.

Mrs. M. J. Golden was born at Independence, Mo., and is 31 years old.

Mr. W. A. Hamilton, who was elected police judge, is a man, and among this galaxy of women is, of course, unworthy of notice.

An artificial ivory of creamy whiteness and great hardness is now made from sound potatoes washed in diluted sulphuric acid, then boiled in the same solution until they become solid and dense; they are finally washed free from the acid and slowly dried. This product may be dyed, turned, carved and made useful in nearly every way that genuine ivory is.

WE fear our friend, Mrs. Nesbitt, is disposed to make a mountain out of a very small mole-hill. It is hardly presumable that "Faber" had any intention whatever of slurring her family. He was evidently solely after the distinguished gentlemen who had a little correspondence last year, which possibly both regret.

If the editor of this paper has an enemy in the world, it is of that enemy's own seeking. There is not an individual on top of God's green earth that he has sufficient animosity against to do the slightest injury, or one whom he is not ready and willing to meet more than half way in reconciliation. It is against his nature to bear malice and he cannot go "agin natur'."

SINCE the tragic death of her husband, Mrs. J. R. James, in order to help herself and little ones, has taken to the study of art and her aptness for it is shown in a number of pictures that she has executed. Mr. B. K. Wearen has a crayon that she made of his little Mattie, who died several years ago, which he says is a perfect likeness, and which is an excellent specimen of work. She will go to the College of Art at Cincinnati this summer and perfect herself in the profession for which she seems fitted.

July 50 hogs, weight 200 lbs., at 5 cents. Another lot of 100 head sold at same price and a lot of 175 taken to Cincinnati realized $4.80 at home. We hear great complaint among our farmers concerning the condition of the clover crop. It has not been so badly frozen out in some sections for years. [Winchester Democrat.]

—A man named Patterson went into Gilcher's confectionary on Monday and proposed buying two pies. Mrs. Gilcher and the two clerks, Henry Cartwright and O. G. Webb, say that Patterson was not at all particular as to the kind of pies, but told Cartwright to wrap up two which cost ten cents and in payment presented a $10 bill. Mrs. Gilcher undertook to make the change and laid on the counter a $5 bill, then went to the money drawer and took out a $2 bill and enough silver to make up five dollars more excepting the 10 cents due for the pies. When this was laid on the counter Patterson, they say, then remarked that he believed he had the change to pay for the pies and took ten cents in silver from his pocket for that purpose, adding that he did not want the silver and would prefer paper money. Mrs. Gilcher then told him that she had no other paper money, when Patterson replied in substance that as he had paid for the pies for her to give him back his $10 bill. She laid it down and then discovering that the $5 bill she had first laid on the counter was missing asked Patterson for it. Patterson declared he had not seen it and although Cartwright and Webb both said and still say that they saw him pick it up he left without producing it. When afterwards charged by Mr. Gilcher with taking the $5 bill he denied it and soon left town.

CRAB ORCHARD.

—Thanks to Mrs. Will Curtis and Mrs. T. Mc Holmes for favors.

—Do not forget the entertainment at the College Hall to-night.

—Rev. Green Lee Surber has an appointment to preach at the Christian church next Tuesday night, 24th.

—On Wednesday night, the 18th, Mr. Chappel and Miss Sallie Blankenship, of Preachersville were united in marriage.

—On the 14th a little daughter came to bless the union of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Clifford, of Junction, City, so he has written to friends here.

—The large soda fountain at Mr. J. R. Bailey's drug store is in fine working order now. Last Saturday was free day for everybody.

—Last Saturday Miss Leila Doores received a handsome wicker rocker, with velvet cushion, for a birthday present. It was presented by a friend, who visited her not long since. We must not tell names.

—Dr. Peyton was up again this week to see Mrs. W. F. Kennedy, but said he could do nothing more than Dr. Doores had already done. She is very low and her death is expected at almost any time.

—Miss Nannie Bingham has been very sick; also Mr. J. E. Carson's little baby. He took it to Stanford to see Dr. Carpenter this week. Jimmie Scott has the chicken-pox. Mrs. John Magee is quite ill at Paint Lick.

—Misses Kate Curtis and Kate Davis have been visiting Mrs. F. M. Curtis at Maresburg. Miss Annie Stuart came home Friday from Hamilton College and remained until Sunday afternoon, when she and her sister, Miss Beauregard, accompanied Messrs. A. E. Gibbons and D. S. Hinman back to Danville. Miss Annie returned to Lexington Monday.

Mr. S. R. Kennedy came home last Monday on account of his mother's condition. Mr. M. Livingston and Miss Leila Doores spent the day very pleasantly last Monday with Mr. R. Gentry at Mr. Traylor's. Mr. Harrison Thurman and Miss Bettie Perrin, of Garrard, were the guests of Mrs. Monroe Curtis several days ago. Dr. W. B. Arment returned from Louisville. Hon. Samuel Ward spent several days with his family this week. Miss Alice Stuart has returned from Goshen.

—Mrs. John Curtis, who has been in bad health for a long time, died at Pittsburg on April 5th, of consumption. She was staying with her sister, Mrs. Alice Newland, at the time of her death. A husband and three little children are left to grieve over the loss of a loved one. Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Curtis have taken the children to raise and will fill the mother's place well. Her husband, with the three children and his sister, Mary Curtis, reached her bedside about four hours before she died. She suffered a great deal, but was very patient and never murmured. Calmly and sweetly she passed to her eternal rest. In truth, her death was gloriously triumphant. Her people all live in Madison, Ind., and Mr. Curtis took her remains there for burial. Look away from the grave, sorrowing husband, to that blissful home where there is no more parting.

The Curse of Profanity.

Speaking of profanity, it seems to me that it is greatly on the increase, and I am led to inquire what we are coming to? You can hear it almost anywhere. It's not alone teamsters and such men, as it used to be, but it seems about every class swears. They swear when it's warm; swear when it's cold; swear when they're young and when they get old; swear when they're bridged; swear at the weather; swear when alone; and swear altogether. Years ago when I was young a man who swore was looked up to with horror. I regret so often to hear men who profess to be gentlemen, so far forget themselves as to actually swear in the presence of ladies. It is a great pity that ladies as they pass along the streets should have their ears constantly assailed by such strings of oaths as one may hear, and it is no uncommon thing now to hear an oath or two on the stage in course of a play. And I sometimes wish we could have the old Connecticut "Blue Laws" for awhile, which were strict, especially as to blasphemy and Sabbath-breaking. (Chicago Journal.)

Under the high license and local option law in New Jersey the "no license" ticket has been carried in Princeton, and after the 1st of May there will be no place in the college town licensed for the sale of liquor. A league has been formed in Princeton for the enforcement of the law. Dr. McCosh says:

"We mean to appoint a competent agent to observe and report the transgressions of the law, and when necessary to call in a detective from New York. Our aim is to remove the temptations presented in this place where between 700 and 800 young men are being educated for high spheres of usefulness, and to have Princeton known as a safe place to which fathers and mothers may send their sons."

He—"Do you believe in high license, Fannie?"

She—"What kind of license? Marriage license?"

He changed the subject. (Washington Critic.)

HUBBLE.

—Dr. O'Neal's patient at McCauley's is improving.

—Our Gully went on and spoiled Dunbar's Lane.

—Jim Cox planted six acres in corn last week, the first in this settlement.

—Fishing is the order of the day and there are about as many caught on the dry land as in the river.

—A vast assembly was well entertained at Rush Branch Sunday by able sermons and the best dinner ever witnessed for the occasion.

—Crit Eubanks' horse struck him on the head last week while trotting and cut it very badly. Dr. Hubble sewed up the cut in good shape. Crit says "It was a high leap for a low cat."

—Miss Eliza Smith began school here Monday, it being her fourth term at this place. She is a good teacher and an accomplished young lady and all the young men will go solid with me on this truth asserted.

—G. A. Swinebroad so 24 head of young cattle to Col. Rice at 24 cents and binds himself to buy them back in the fall at 24 per pound. Mr. S. also sold about 30 head at Danville Monday at fair prices.

—One of our young ladies has purchased of J. A. H. & Co. a very desirable dinner set containing 108 pieces and we think there is some probability of her procuring a more desirable piece, and if so good luck and best wishes.

Of all of the time-killing legislatures Kentucky has ever been cursed with, the one now in session at Frankfort is probably the worst. Day follows day, week follows week and month follows month without the least intimation of an adjournment, without even a pretense of enacting necessary laws, without the slightest apology for the drawing of the per diem. Indeed, if the efforts of our so-called statesmen were solely for the purpose of perpetuating their $5-a-day salaries, the result could not be more satisfactory to them. It is a continual filibuster against time and the State Treasury. No effort at general legislation is made, and what few bills of any kind that are eventually passed are either of a vicious character and are subsequently vetoed by the Governor, or insignificant and of a private nature. (Post.)

According to estimates the annual product of Kentucky whisky may be put at 15,000,000 gallons, bringing every year into the State at least $6,000,000, which is distributed among our citizens, the farmer getting the largest share. This great amount of whisky passes through the hands of various dealers and warehousemen until by the time it reaches the consumer it has given employment to 300,000 persons. Meantime the product has increased in value to $75,000,000, or even $100,000,000. The government, which derives such a large revenue from the industry in this State, has collected a tax of over $10,000,000 on the product, and a small army of revenue officials are kept employed making the collections. (Louisville Post.)

A marvelous butterfly exhibition, consisting of the collection of Berthold Neumogen, was opened yesterday at the Eden Musee. The collection comprises about 100,000 specimens of the most curious and beautiful butterflies from all parts of the world. Every possible tint, shade and combination of color seems to be represented on their dainty wings. In size they vary from a quarter of an inch to 11 inches from tip to tip of wings. They range in value from nominal sums to $25 or $30 apiece, but some are held above money value on account of their rarity. The exhibition will continue one month and is already attracting much attention. (New York Times.)

In a kissing match at Leavenworth a few evening since Frank Lynch, postmaster, editor, husband and twice a father, won the prize. As a postmaster he had experience only in handling the mails; but as an editor he was always in a hurry to go to press and that may have helped him out in the kissing line. If the victim offered resistance he could Lynch her. (N. O. Picayune.)

Admiral Porter, the head of the navy, receives a higher salary than the commander of the army. He is paid $13,000 a year, while Lieut.-Gen. Sheridan receives only $11,000, although the latter is allowed a commutation of $100 a month for quarters' forage for four horses. Gen. Sherman, as General of the army, and Gen. Grant also received $13,000.

It is a shameful fact that so many of our ablest lawyers never prosecute, so that the weight of legal talent is thrown on the side of the accused, and too frequently only second rate lawyers can be employed to represent the commonwealth. To this fact may be traced much of the unfavorable comment our juries receive for their proverbial lenience towards criminals. (Harrodsburg Democrat.)

That the world is growing is shown by the fact that a lithographic concern in Chicago has an order on hand for 26,000,000 of impressions on one job. It is a cigarette picture, more than a million and a half to be made, and each to go through the press 14 or 15 times.

Eggs and chickens are too valuable to be allowed to go to waste when Gantner's chicken cholera cure is sold and warranted by McRoberts & Stagg.

The Adulteration of Kisses.

Considerable alarm is being expressed just now by a good number of Northern editors over a lesson they draw from the recent severe illness of a young man in Pennsylvania.

It seems that this youth was attacked by a violent and mysterious disease which came very near proving fatal and which for some time baffled all the efforts of the physicians to diagnose its cause. When, however, they finally succeeded they did it in this way:

The young man had a best girl, of whom he was very fond. The girl had very rosy cheeks and the young man, so the doctors found out in the prosecution of their professional investigations, was in the habit of kissing those cheeks where they were richest and ripest. Furthermore, these learned medicine men discovered that the roses of the girl's cheeks were not natural, but artificial, produced by the application of certain cosmetics known to the female toilet table; that these cosmetics were poisonous, and that their patient in kissing the girl had partaken of so much of her color that he was poisoned and nearly lost his life thereby.

Granted that this is all true, we confess our inability to understand the consternation the case is creating among the younger of our masculine contemporaries of the North. To us all their talk about the danger of kissing and the necessity of swearing off is sheer nonsense. We cannot see how the case of this young man has any general application among people of taste. In the first place, a man who would kiss a girl on the cheek deserves no sympathy, whatever may be the consequences. In the next place, a man who would kiss a girl who paints ought to be poisoned and if the act itself carries with it its own proper penalty it simply saves somebody the trouble of throwing him a dog-butto.

The outcry which our Northern contemporaries are making over this case is not in the least complimentary to the girls of that section. Is it possible that so many of them paint as this would indicate? We refuse to believe it. At the same time we invite such of our Northern contemporaries as are dissatisfied with the complexion of their girls to come out to Kentucky, where the roses of our sweethearts' cheeks are perennial bloomers, always warranted to wash; and, paradoxical as it may sound, while their tints cannot be extracted, albeit, they somehow rush over him whose lips come in contact with them as though they were a whole summer rainbow twining about him and making a May-pole of his spinal column—a rainbow, in sooth, one end of which rests in the gardens of the Hesperides and the other in a jug of sugar-house molasses.

Come South, young man, come South! (Courier-Journal.)

Advertising Estrays.

The New Era would like to call the attention of the people of this county to the fact that there is a law which regulates the advertising of "strays." Very little attention has been paid to this and we doubt not that the law has been violated many times. The taker-up of the stray, no matter what it is, is compelled to go before a justice and have it recorded. It is then the duty of the justice to have the record placed on the books of the county clerk. This far we believe the law has been generally lived up to, but there is yet another provision, which is of equal importance, that has not been abided by. It is as follows:

The taker-up shall within one month after he has posted the stray, cause to be published one month, or by four weekly insertions, a copy of the justice's certificate in a newspaper, if one is published in the county.

He may publish this notice on the same day he records the stray if he so chooses, and the owner must reimburse him for the outlay. That is the law. If he fails to comply with this provision he is subject to a fine. The law on this subject says:

If any persons shall violate the provisions of this chapter, or fail or refuse to comply with its provisions, he shall forfeit and pay $10 for each offense.

It is the duty of the justices to report each and every violation of this law that comes under their notices. We do not believe there has been any intentional violation, but it is due to the fact that the masses are not fully posted on the subject. (Hopkinsville New Era.)

A man was recently buried at Yantic, Conn., who had no idea of being buried alive. He made provision in his will that after his supposed death his body should be placed in a vault, the lid should be taken from the coffin, stimulants should be placed beside it, a hammer be placed there and a light kept burning for three days. All this was done, but the man was really dead and was then buried. (N. Y. Sun.)

As an instance of the astonishing way in which rabbits multiply, it is related that a female rabbit with young was left on the island of Porto Santo by the crew of a passing ship and in a short time rabbits were so numerous on the island that the settlers were forced to abandon it.

The women of Paraguay are as beautiful and fair to look upon as can be found in any part of the world. Though they belong to the Indian race, they are not of the swarthy, coarse Indian type, but have clear complexions, flowing dark hair, large, deep, lustrous eyes, and delicate features of a very voluptuous cast.
